RECENT TESTIMONIALS:

"Objective information is hard to come by in the media markets of today. ProCon.org provides objective and well researched information and analysis on some of America's most pertinent, often controversial, issues. It has been a wealth of knowledge for me and a source of valuable information for my staff. It serves pragmatic solutions well."

Oct. 24, 2011 - Joe Sestak, Navy Admiral and former Congressman

"We live in a world of hyper-partisanship in which polite dialogue has become a distant memory. But that need not be our permanent condition. At the forefront of the battle to reintroduce reason and thoughtful analysis into our national debate about the future of our country stands ProCon.org. By fairly presenting opposing viewpoints on critical issues ProCon.org creates an atmosphere of mutual respect that allows for a real exchange of ideas - and the exploration of viable solutions to our most pressing problems. ProCon.org is the place to go to understand today's most controversial issues."
