

Dear ,

October 2009 brought us a record 797,282 sessions (breaking our former record by over 100,000 sessions), and we were used by a professor at a university in North Dakota so we can now boast that ProCon.org is in schools in all 50 states. Also, we received our 150th media reference (in Esquire magazine).

Read more about our recent highlights and latest research below. If you like what we do, please tell your friends to visit ProCon.org and sign up for our free email updates. Thank you again for your interest in our work.

Sincerely,
Kamy Akhavan
Managing Editor, ProCon.org

1. How 728 Schools Are Using ProCon.org

ProCon.org is now used by schools in all 50 US states (North Dakota just added) and 17 countries (including Sweden and Macedonia, also just added). 119 elementary and middle schools, 282 high schools, and 327 colleges and universities, totaling 728 schools use the free nonpartisan research we provide to stimulate critical thinking.

Teachers and librarians, please take our 2-minute survey and let us know what you think about ProCon.org.

2. Medical Marijuana: Maine, One of 13 Legal Medical Marijuana States, Expands Its Program

On Nov. 3, 2009, 59% of voters in Maine approved a medical marijuana ballot measure that requires the state to establish a registry identification program, allows nonprofit dispensaries to operate, and increases the number of approved conditions for legal medical marijuana use.

3. Prostitution: Rhode Island Outlaws Indoor Prostitution, Closing Legal Loophole

Prostitution in Rhode Island became legal in 1980 due to a legal loophole in state laws. Nevada now remains the only US state with legal prostitution.
