2009 DECEMBER 30

I wrote posts both here, in the class blog, and on my personal blog about the movie At the Death House Door. Very soon after posting, I received a comment from a person named Dudley Sharp that included links to a variety of related pages and posts.

I thought members of the class might be interested in these links. Sharp has written web pages that criticize both the facts and the overall perspective presented by Carroll Pickett in the film “At the Death House Door.” Here is the comment that Sharp left on my personal blog:
