Website of the Week – procon.org

October 13, 2009 · Leave a Comment

So, sometimes I actually pay attention to the radio when I'm getting ready in the morning. Not often, but every now and then, depending on whether I've had a Coke Zero yet or not. Anyway, I heard procon.org as a sponsor on WHY? and thought I'd check out the site. It's pretty interesting. The opinions are from vetted sources and seem to represent the range of ideas on a particular topic. This could definitely be a good place for starting some Current Issues research.

When reading up on controversial topics, it is important to understand the nature of the organization posting the information, who they are and why they are. What is the mission of procon.org? (Hint, check the "About Us" section.)
