Truth be told, I just logged into your site for the first time. I clicked "Yes" to the above questions because I have no doubt that my students and I will be using your site. I perused it briefly and read all your accolades and I know that we will use you as a source for information. We are going to a congress debate in just a few weeks and I know we will be researching bill topics on your site. Thanks and I look forward to using your web site for a long time to come.
