Alternative (If you already wrote a paper)

1. Choose an article.
2. Read with a pencil in hand. Circle unfamiliar vocab words. Make a "+" in the margin next to information that relates to something we talked about in class. Write a "?" next to things you don't understand or that make you think of a question. Also, write notes, words or questions in the margins.
3. Write 1 paragraph summarizing the MAIN argument of the paper. What is the author trying to convince you of?
4. Write 1 paragraph reflecting on connections that you made between the article and what we learned in class.
5. Write 5 questions (Thinking Like a Historian Questions) that the article brought up in your mind.

TURN IN MONDAY:

The article with notes, 2 paragraphs, and a list of 5 questions.
