WEB RESOURCES

- Librarians' Internet Index (<http://www.lii.org>)
- Christian Science Monitor (<http://www.csmonitor.com>) is an online newspaper with excellent national and international coverage.
- The Public Library of Law (<http://www.plol.org>) provides free access to selected U.S. legal materials. Check your handout for the username and password.
- The Multnomah County Library Homework Center Social Issues page (<http://www.multcolib.org/homework/sohc.html>) has a good set of links on a variety of issues. But be warned that not all links are active.
- FRONTLINE from PBS (<http://www.pbs.org/wgbh/pages/frontline/>) produces excellent television news documentaries on timely and controversial topics. Many of these programs are available on DVD or VHS through your local public library.
- The Internet Public Library Social Issues and Social Welfare Subject Guide (<http://www.ipl.org/div/subject/browse/soc80.00.00>) provides links to online resources in a number of categories.
- ProCon.Org (<http://www.procon.org>) This site is dedicated to presenting issues in a non-partisan, pro/con format.

CREATING YOUR BIBLIOGRAPHY

Use these two resources to help you correctly format your bibliography according to APA guidelines. Remember to collect your citation information as you do your research. It will save you from having to reconstruct your search later.

- Online Writing Lab (OWL) at Purdue University (<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01>)
- Oregon School Library Information System (<http://secondary.oslis.org>)
