Finding Websites

Phrase Search | Site Search | Current Issues Websites

Phrase Search

When using a search engine such as Google, place quotation marks "" around key phrases in your search. This will return more specific and relevant results. A search in Google for iraq war veterans returned 6,450,000 results but only 1,010,000 for "iraq war" veterans.

Site Search

Your search will be more accurate and reliable if you narrow your search to the .edu or .gov domain. Searching for information in the Education and Government domains will eliminate a lot of inaccurate websites and help you find reliable research-based information.

To do a site search in Google, your search statement must include: keywords + site:edu or site:gov.
