Throughout their high school career, each of our students must do a certain number of research papers and speeches on controversial topics. ProCon.org is one of the resources I have linked on our controversial topic resources web page, and when I am showing student the resources that are available, I point it out as a good resource. The feedback I get from students is that they really appreciate the site. <http://www.ttsd.k12.or.us/tualatin-high-school/library/class-pages/language-arts/persuasive-essay-speech/research-controversial-topics>
