

- About Securities Docket
- Events
- Contact Us
- Sponsorship Information

“Should Insider Trading by Congress be Prohibited?”

November 5, 2008 at 3:27 pm

Via a website called ProCon.org we stumbled upon, we hereby provide you with more information than you knew even existed and more than you will ever need on the subject: “Should insider trading by Congress be prohibited?”

ProCon.org is a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit public charity with the mission of “Promoting education, critical thinking, and informed citizenship by presenting controversial issues in a straightforward, nonpartisan primarily pro-con format.” For reasons only known to ProCon.org, it has decided that the above question should be among the 15 controversial issues it currently profiles on its site along with the death penalty, euthanasia, the war in Iraq, etc.

We’re not sure it really rises to the level of controversy of most of the others, but thanks for the research!

Read ProCon.org’s Research on Congressional Insider Trading

Subscribe to Securities Docket by Email

 Sphere: Related Content

Categories: Regulation

Tags: Features, Insider Trading

Copyright © 2008 Securities Docket

Structure Theme