Anne Arundel County police arrested an Oklahoma woman Thursday night after surveillance led them to search a Linthicum hotel room.

Naomi L. Mason, 23, of Oklahoma City was arrested and charged with prostitution by any means and assignment by any means.

According to a police press release, after numerous complaints of prostitution taking place at a hotel in the hotel district of Linthicum, officers executed a search and seizure warrant at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday.

During surveillance of the hotel, detectives stopped a client who was seen leaving the hotel and learned that he responded to an online advertisement where he paid money to meet with Mason in exchange for sexual favors, police said.

After searching the room, officers found several condoms, four cell phones, prepaid credit card receipts, prepaid credit cards and cash.

Police did not release the name of the hotel.
